

NEWS RELEASE

FEBRUARY 23, 2009

A new Antique, Style Bamboo flooring revives an old look.

Style® bamboo flooring has recently launched a brand new product that is antique in look but high-tech in nature. Antique by Style has a century aged patina for warmth and character - mid-brown in colour and highlighted with black stain, the wide boards closely resemble an original or recycled, native hardwood floor. Antique is also finished with a French bleed stain – where the edges between the boards are darkened to create a visual thickness and time worn authenticity to the installed floor.

But the look is where the comparison to old timber ends. Style bamboo flooring has been created using a unique patented strand woven technology that makes the boards harder and stronger than most native hardwoods. Made from mature moso bamboo, it rates an outstanding 15.3 kN on the Janka Hardness scale and with scratch-resistant UV pre-finished coatings make it extremely hardwearing and perfect for high traffic commercial areas.

Environmentally friendly Style is the only bamboo flooring with the tick of approval from Good Environmental Choice Australia (GECA) and is only available from recognised reseller outlets throughout Australia and New Zealand. Look for Antique by Style in 142mm T&G boards or the easy to install, 130mm patented Uniclic floating floor. No glue, no-nails or coating required. Just click to install and your room is ready to walk on immediately.
